

SAP Certified

Comartis' Human Performance Suite is certified for integration with SAP applications.

Benefits

To meet customer demands to provide an easy and clear method to identify competent service providers, whose services and products comply with the high SAP standards, SAP introduced the software partner certification.

In 2009, Comartis was the first company to be certified by the SAP Integration and Certification Center (SAP ICC) with SAP's external learning services certification (LS-ELS 300). This certificate confirms that the Comartis Human Performance Suite (HPS) can be integrated via SAP's external learning services integration scenario.

Companies with a SAP application can thus quickly and easily enhance their learning environment with the extensive capabilities of the HPS. These, dependent on the modules of the HPS chosen to be integrated, can include e-Testing, e-Survey, Instructor-Led Trainings, Competence Management, Learning Quality Management and much more. All tasks performed through or by the HPS can be controlled by the SAP application, and the results of which transferred back for storage.

With the successful completion of the rigorous SAP certification, Comartis continues to highlight its commitment to help customers gain the most out of their assessment and talent management systems.
